v/h Power and readiness

Enough power to finish.

A battery indicator should help you decide whether to start the job.

Swipe for a proposed development check.

v/h The power budget

Include the whole job.

Interpret.

Run the sensors and local model.

Act.

Operate the physical mechanism.

Check.

Confirm the intended result.

The example is a portable physical utility.

vh.do

v/h A proposed development check

Check at different charge levels.

Repeat the same task.

Count completed, verified jobs.

Record each request for help.

When power is too low, make the next step clear before starting.

Our first utility is still in development.

vh.do